How much does a thin-film solar cell cost?

Of the thin-film solar cell types, CdTe cells are the least expensive due to their low manufacturing costs. Some reports on CdTe show prices as low as $0.46/Watt. Amorphous silicon solar cells cost between $0.50 to $1.50 per watt, while CIGS is in a range of $0.60 - $0.70. GaAs are more costly, with their price being around $50 per watt.

Are thin-film solar panels a good choice?

Low Manufacturing Costs: Thin-film solar cells are more affordable to produce compared to polycrystalline and monocrystalline modules. The production costs are sometimes up to 50% lower, making these panels particularly appealing for large-scale projects and solar fields.

How long do thin-film solar panels last?

Thin-film solar cells typically have a shorter lifespan than other types of solar panels, lasting between 10 to 20 years. In comparison, monocrystalline panels generally last 35 to 50 years, and polycrystalline panels around 25 to 35 years. Despite their relatively shorter lifespan, thin-film panels offer the advantage of a faster payback period.

What is the difference between thin-film solar panels and monocrystalline solar panels?

The main difference between thin-film solar panels and other types, such as monocrystalline and polycrystalline, lies in their material composition and structure. Thin-film panels are made with layers of photovoltaic material that are only a few microns thick, resulting in a lightweight, flexible panel.
